Bio-Economy Research Driven Innovation

Diego Mattioli - Project Manager

3rd ADRION ANNUAL EVENT & 2nd CAPITALISATION EVENT

The Adriatic Ionian Region has a wide potential in terms of biomass and innovation

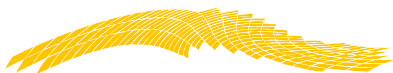

Agriculture, forestry, fishery in most of the Balkan Regions are three sectors object of a process of development based on application of new technologies and enterprises clustering process.

Nevertheless there is still an unexploited potential in terms of valorization of the residues (or by product) deriving from the products processing.

BIOECO-R.D.I wants to support the creation and/or development of a Regional Innovation System based on a structured bio-economy sector where the Agriculture, forestry, fishery organic waste become inputs for biobased products or bioenergy according with a circular approach

BIOECONOMY

To develop bio-economy as a driver for regional innovation system

To promote the transnational integration
among triple helix actors

To improve the bioeconomy R.D.I level
and clusters maturity

To support the bio-based products market up-take

3rd ADRION ANNUAL EVENT & 2nd CAPITALISATION EVENT

Project steps and main results:

STEP 1

Strategy Designing

6 BIO ECOnomy R.D.I Regional/National Strategy developed identifying a strategic set of interventional aimed at developing bioeconomy in the 6 pilot areas

1 BIO ECOnomy R.D.I International Strategy designing a Triple Helix Adriatic-Ionian Collaboration Bioeconomy Network and identifying area of interventions for specific collaboration agreements

2

Capacity Building and Networking

Organization of national and international workshops, benchmarking visits, mutual learning actions to increase technical skills and expertise of triple helix actors regarding bioeconomy key topics

Activation of a BIOECO-R.D.I. web-platform conceived as a networking and mutual learning tool
Organization of 3 international matchmaking events
